

Kiddo Playtime

Welcome Back

I am so excited that Kiddo Playtime is back at CHUM. It is hard to believe it is February and it is time to celebrate Valentines Day!

On February 10th we will have our party. If you would like to bring anything that would be wonderful. The children are welcome to share valentines with the other children.

We will be going some crafts and as always just having fun together.

Happy Valentine's Day

We Can Count

We are going to make counting books this month. The kids will not only have fun putting them together, but they will have a counting book to take home and practice with.

Do you have any magazines that you know longer need?

We are looking for magazines with nature, food, pictures of kids and families, etc. And if you have any arts and crafts supplies that you no longer need—we would love to put them to use.

Piggy's Everywhere

Not only are we going to be practicing our counting, we will be talking about piggy's. So be looking for your little piggy to have stories to share!

Mittens

We will be ready
"Runaway Mittens"
by Jean Rodgers

This week we will be reading about mittens. We will also be making mittens and trying to find them!

Be ready for your kiddo to play hid and seek with his mittens!

Mark Your Calendar

We will not be meeting on March 17th, for spring break. We will resume on March 24th. But don't worry, we will be celebrating St. Patrick's Day on the 10th, so make sure to wear green!

We will be having fun with color green that day!
